Pennies for Canada

Lest you get the wrong idea from the picture at left of the Creemore Legion's Norm Nordstrom, this year's Canada Day extravaganza will remain as family-oriented as always.

It just so happens though, that when Creemore's resident fireworks expert Jeff Clarmo left his (already discounted) invoice for Sunday's fireworks show on Norm's porch, he dropped off this oversized "Canadian Club" bottle with it, filled to the brim with pennies.

Never one to pass up a fundraising opportunity, Nordstrom has decided to use the bottle to run a 50/50 contest on Canada Day. Throughout the day, guests can buy a ticket and guess how many pennies are in the bottle. In the end, whoever comes closest to the actual amount will win 50 per cent of the pennies and the proceeds. The other half will go toward Clarmo's always impressive fireworks demonstration.

For more about this year's Canada Day celebrations, see page 20 of this week's Echo.

POSITION ON CASINO TO WAIT UNTIL SEPTEMBER

by Brad Holden

Clearview Council will wait until early September to debate its position on the establishment of a casino in the region, allowing time for a behind-closed-doors information meeting with representatives of the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation and the Councils of the four municipalities the province has named as possible sites for a local gaming establishment. It's also hoped that the four municipalities – Clearview, Collingwood, Wasaga Beach and Springwater – will host some sort of joint public information session in August.

The discussion that takes place in September will be framed by a motion from Councillor Thom Paterson,

Inaugural Ray's Place scholar to study engineering at U of T

by Christopher Greer

Creemore's Galen Yates, who will study engineering science at the University of Toronto in the fall, has been chosen as the inaugural recipient of the Ray's Place Scholarship.

The stakes were high and the competition stiff, with a total of 15 qualified students applying for the lucrative prize.

"I was thrilled," said Yates of hearing the news. "The program I've chosen is so expensive – it's a relief knowing that I'll have that help."

The award has a potential total value of $20,000, payable at $5,000 a year over four years of study, provided that Yates maintains particular academic averages in his courses.

According to Laurie Copeland, who chairs the Ray's Place Board, the award is instrumental in realizing the organization's goal of increasing the number of students who acquire post-secondary education.

In order to qualify, students had to be residents of Clearview Township and graduate from a high school in Simcoe County. They also had to exhibit both leadership qualities and financial need.

Yates was the exceptional candidate, having, in addition to playing bass for the Jazz, R&B, and Concert bands at Stayner Collegiate Institute, been a member of basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton, alpine skiing, and curling teams over the course of his four years at the school.

Yates has partnered with Ray's Place in the past, spearheading a local youth basketball program, and was in fact instrumental in the community initiative that, in aiming but ultimately failing to secure a town-owned building for local youth, led indirectly to the formation of Ray's Place.

Copeland was sure to point out that no one involved in the day-to-day operations of Ray's Place was involved in the selection of Yates for the scholarship, with the decision being made by an independent committee based on his academic merit and exemplary leadership skills.

Yates is enthusiastic at the prospect of making positive change in the world, stating on his application that he "has always wanted to play a role in developing new technologies and making new discoveries" – a goal that his attendance at the University of Toronto will no doubt help bring to fruition.

THE WAY WE WERE

LETTER

A case of mistaken identity in Mulmur

Letter to the Editor:
I wish to correct an error I made in my letter to the Echo on June 22, 2012. Unfortunately I misidentified the speaker at the Mulmur Council meeting as John Ireland rather than Robert Ireland. My apologies to John Ireland for any discomfort I may have caused him and to Robert Ireland for not correctly identifying him. Robert was referring to a section of the 3rd Line deviation road which his father sold (Lot 16, Concession 3 East).

Creemore Big Heart Seniors

There were 60 of us assembled at St. John's United Church for our much-looked-forward-to catered lunch. While we were waiting for the food to be "lifted," Wilma Bannerman was good enough to entertain us with some piano music. And wow, can that gal ever play! She played several "nostalgic" tunes such as Fraulein, and Mocking Bird Hill, etcetera – all tunes that we could sing along with. Very enjoyable – thanks, Wilma.

The food being ready, Bob Veale gave the blessing. He then decreed that the middle table – the one we were at – would be first in the food line-up. Now that was a first for any of the executive, and a very nice surprise. We usually get to the serving table last, and then have to finish our lunch and be ready to go and open up the Legion, etcetera, first. This makes for some quickly swallowed food and a mad dash to keep things moving, as everyone else has finished eating ahead of us. So today was a real pleasure, as was the food. We had beef and pork, potatoes, gravy, salad, veggies, and a choice of bread and pickles, with an assortment of pies for dessert. Very tasty and very enjoyable. We did feel sorry for having picked the day we did, because it was one of those "record-breaking" hot days, and here were all those poor ladies who had been slaving over a hot stove for hours. Sorry, gals!

SENIORS

Sylvia GALE

Back at the Legion, Bob Veale, Ray Leighton and Marion Kelly (and possibly others) had been in earlier and set up the tables and so on, so it was pretty easy to be ready to start our afternoon. Our upcoming bus to Rama on the first Tuesday in July was mentioned, and then Barb Pilon told us a cute joke.

The 50/50 draws went to Sheila Overall, Roy Veinot, Jim Rigney, Janice Stephens, Alinda Bishop, Marcie Cameron, Sheila Fenton and Marg Hope.

Moon shots were played by Lucy Young, Phyllis Seed, "Mr." Dave Smith, Isabelle Gubbels, Mercedes Veinot and Peter Gubbels (2). Peter won the travelling prize, and Dave won the Sidewinders money.

High scores were Marg Gilchrist 322, Lillian Hiltz 287, Bert Douglas 279 and Audrey Fines 270. Low was John Van Voorst with (ahem!) 5 points.

It was really nice to see Ruby Klinck out today after all the medical problems that she has had recently – and she still had a smile for everybody! Also, our thanks to Jim Rigney and Joan Monaghan for having smarts enough to think of fans for the Legion for the afternoon. I am quite sure that is the only thing that made the northeast corner of the room bearable. Good thinking! And thanks, I guess, to Ray Leighton for the water bath on the way into the church hall!

Shanna and Walter Lucas were in Normandy, France, recently, and while there they visited the Memorial for Canadian soldiers who fought to free France and to stop the Germans from advancing on England. This was a horrific battle where each of four countries had a beach to capture and make safe. Canada's beach was named "Juno," and the "Normandy Invasion" was a major turning point in the Second World War. Shanna and Walter were good enough to take several photos of the Normandy Memorial, which has several kiosks that are faced with ceramic "bricks" with the soldiers' names who were part of the Normandy Invasion. They brought a copy of the pictures in so that Warren could see "his" brick, and there is also a brick there for Ernie Pledger, and one for Oscar Simpson. Very nice, guys, and thank you both for thinking of the chaps that were there in 1944 but will never make it back there to see it for themselves now.

Happy Dominion Day, everybody!

Promise

My daughter-in-law is an ethnic Armenian,
While my family background is Jacobite-Fenian.
Her father's a doctor, her mother's in jewellery,
While my bag is building and bagpipe tomfoolery.

We're different as night on the north slope of Logan,
To high noon inside of a Navajo's hogan.
If I were "Untouchable" they would be "Brahman,"
And yet, by God's grace, we have one thing in common.

Our children united to grant us a "cadeau,"
And lo, before long there emerged from the shadow,
New hope for the world and a future with promise,
And a bond between families, our wee grandson, Thomas.

Council will decide position on casino in September

which was originally brought forward at Council's June 11 meeting. Worded to express Council's lack of support for a casino in the region, the motion was deferred at that meeting to give Mayor Ken Ferguson and Deputy Mayor Alicia Savage time to meet with Mayors and Deputy Mayors from the other three municipalities to discuss a regional response to the province's move.

That meeting took place on Thursday, June 21, and resulted in plans for the in camera meeting with OLG in July as well as tentative talk of some public engagement in August.

At Monday night's Council meeting, Paterson was eager to nail down a date at which his deferred motion would be brought back to the table, and suggested that it might be best to do it sooner rather than later, in order to let the other municipalities know exactly where Clearview stands on the matter.

But Ferguson was adamant that Council should wait until more information is available, both from OLG and the public. "I don't want to fight with my neighbours," he said.

So far, Wasaga Beach is the only one of the four municipalities that has expressed an interest in a casino, and the indication from the province is that, should only one municipality be in favour of hosting a facility, OLG will be ready to deal with that municipality exclusively, regardless of the other three opinions. For that reason, Ferguson advised caution at this point.

In the end, it was decided that Clearview Council will debate Paterson's motion on September 10, just before the province's deadline for commenting.

And in the meantime Savage, who has made her objection to a casino clear from the start of discussions, said she would personally be doing whatever she could to "convince Wasaga Beach that this is not our vision for the region."

Vending Policy Deferred

A new policy brought forward by the planning department dealing with vending on public lands ran into trouble Monday night when no one on Council was willing to make a motion to put it on the table. That didn't prevent an extensive discussion on the topic, however, during which several possible glitches with the policy were brought up.

The problem which needs to be solved in some way or other is that Clearview Township's insurance does not cover private vendors on public lands. Even during large events like Stayner's Heritage Day or Creemore's Copper Kettle Festival, private vendors are not covered by the event organizers' insurance. That means Clearview Township is essentially "self-insuring" these vendors, and in the event of a lawsuit, taxpayers would be on the hook to pay for any damages.

The proposed policy would charge vendors an annual permit fee – $500 for motorized sales not associated with a municipally approved event; $250 for non-motorized sales not associated with a municipally approved event; $60 for a private vendor at a municipally approved event; or $30 for a non-profit vendor at a municipally approved event – as well as require them to comply with health and safety regulations and provide third party liability insurance in the sum of $2 million.

Vendors at community halls, arenas or the Creemore Farmers' Market would be exempt.

When some on Council balked at the fees, Planning Director Michael Wynia said that they weren't the most important element of the policy, although they would address the workload generated by the permitting process. What's more important, he said, is ensuring that the vendors have the proper insurance.

That led Councillor Shawn Davidson to loft some hypothetical situations, like for instance the church ladies who sell pie by the slice during Heritage Day festivities. According to Wynia, they would have to comply with the policy and present an insurance policy in the sum of $2 million.

"This is not a feel-good issue, but it is nonetheless an issue," said Wynia. "Every day that goes by without a policy, you are self-insured."

Several on Council objected to being presented with the policy without time to give it much thought – Deputy Mayor Alicia Savage said there would be "ramifications that we aren't even aware of tonight" and Councillor Thom Paterson said he was reluctant to vote until he talked with vendors and other stakeholders.

With that, Council voted to receive the proposed policy for information and asked for it to be brought back at its July 9 meeting.

A Request for Skyway 124

Council unanimously passed a motion brought forward by Councillor Brent Preston Monday night, officially calling on Skyway 124, the developers aiming to erect a wind farm south of Singhampton, to hold another "first" public meeting that meets the requirements of the Green Energy Act.

This is the second time this request has been made of Skyway 124. The company first held a meeting in December, and then "redid" the meeting in March after residents complained that requirements were not met.

According to Preston, the draft plan at the second "first" meeting included several misplaced noise receptors, all landowners within the statutory 160 metres were not notified, and all but one representative of Skyway 124 left the meeting a half-hour before it was scheduled to end.

Council's resolution will be forwarded to the Minister of Energy.

Surrealism and nostalgia over changing rural landscapes

by Eleanor Brownridge

The Mad & Noisy Gallery's July show, entitled "Sur-rural," celebrates rural culture through surrealism in paintings, photography, prints, wood sculptures and jewellery.

Mixed-media photographer Rosemary Hasner moved to Mulmur Township, near Mansfield, in 1999. Immediately smitten by her country surroundings, Hasner started using rural landmarks and creatures as her inspiration. Her artwork starts with photography, but by borrowing on the techniques of painters and collage artists, she creates pieces that look more like paintings.

"Each piece tells a story, one of icons, landmarks, symbols and metaphors," says Hasner. "Sadly, all is not well in the country. The history and legends of both rural life and the natural environment are being sacrificed in the name of progress. But my work is not a eulogy. Instead, it is designed to trigger long-buried emotions – both happy and sad – that might create change."

Hasner always incorporates a creature in her work. In No Place Like Home, one of her newest pieces, a grumpy old toad acts as a surrogate security guard for a gorgeous, but empty, red brick home that's topped by a tilted old weathervane. "I find it hard not to smile when I look at it," says Hasner, who has won numerous awards for her often humorous depictions of rural life.

In a similar vein, another Mansfield area artist, Gita Karklins, superimposes vintage figurines into paintings of cloudy rural skies or sunsets. The figurines, which may have once been part of someone's beloved collection, remind Karklins of the fragility of our world.

Tottenham printmaker Loralie Clemmensen uses a reduction linocut relief technique to capture the fleeting effect of light, shadow and shape on a given day. The linoleum plate from which the image is printed is carved, inked and printed numerous times to produce colour prints.

"Through the seasons, our landscape constantly evolves. The interaction of man and nature creates interesting patterns and perspectives, and sometimes helps to emphasize our connection to the planet," believes Clemmensen. One of her pieces in "Sur-rural," Fresh, first snowfall, is from a day when a heavy, wet snow laid on the trees and then immediately began to melt. Another conveys the vast arc of the sky over a distant view.

Barrie photographer John Jacquemain prefers infrared photography for his black and white art photos of nature. "I enjoy infrared photography because it uncovers for me a wonderland where shapes and tones become even more pronounced. There is a purity in the infrared image that both reflects and enhances the beauty of the natural environment."

He continues: "Infrared allows me to travel beyond the visible spectrum to the very soul of the subject. Black and white reveals the struggle between two extremes allowing both their differences and their harmony to become more apparent. Both become real and more real – surreal – and remind us that there is more than meets the eye, much, much, more." Unbending, one of his photographs of a tree, is a reminder of how the forces of wind and rain, along with the tree's tenacity to reach for the sun, have shaped it over time.

Also participating in this show is wood carver Jim Harkness and guest jeweller Lisa Brunetta.

"Sur-rural" opens with a reception at the Mad & Noisy Gallery on Saturday, July 7 from 2 to 5 pm and then continues daily until July 29. For more information call 705-466-5555 or go to www.madandnoisy.com.

Celebrate Creemore's new dairy like they did in the old days

by Christopher Greer

The soon to be operational Miller's Dairy harkens back to a simpler time when, following the passing of a law in 1938 that made pasteurization mandatory in Ontario, most towns had a dairy (or two) all their own (including Creemore, which was home to both the Creemore Creamery and Hilltop Dairy). Back then, milk was deposited on doorsteps in glass bottles, to be retrieved with the morning paper while, on turntables in the living room, Chuck Berry riffs and Fats Domino melodies evolved over time into the psychedelic sounds of the Beach Boys and the Beatles.

Fittingly, the celebrations surrounding the opening of the facility will be awash in nostalgia, with antique delivery trucks and 50s and 60s themed music from Frankie D & the Dreamers providing the backdrop to the festivities.

What has been dubbed Creemore Dairy Day, taking place on Saturday, July 14, will also feature children's activities, including a bouncy farm, face painting and balloon animals; themed meals offered by local businesses, including burgers and floats at the Old Mill House, "healthy milkshakes" from the 100 Mile Store and milk and cookies from the Bank Café (the latter two using Miller's Dairy products). There will also be tours of the $800,000 Miller's Dairy processing plant, with a bus being made available to carry passengers back and forth from town to the farm of John and Marie Miller each half-hour.

The facility, which is itself outfitted with retro equipment, will produce approximately 60,000 litres of cream, 1%, 2%, skim and chocolate milk each month, to be sold locally in reusable glass bottles.

"We are producing as much milk in a year as some dairies do in a day," said John. "What we require equipment-wise is not readily available in Canada."

Miller's Dairy is the pilot project of the Dairy Farmer's of Ontario's Project Farmgate, which aims to encourage "on-farm fluid milk processing." In setting up the business, they enlisted the help of a mentor, who advised the Millers against purchasing lower-quality offshore equipment and investing instead in refurbished equipment from the time when smaller dairies were more common.

In addition to the use of glass bottles, Miller's Dairy will also make use of a water recovery system, which retains 80 per cent of water used when washing the bottles, in an attempt to reduce their carbon footprint.

Another environmentally friendly feature of Miller's Dairy is the fact that deliveries will be made to only 25 (for now) local vendors, cutting down on emissions related to the transportation of products.

"The demand for locally produced food is strong in our area," said John. "Large, corporate dairies impose disciplines and procedures on producers that are not sustainable, forcing us to sell our milk to them at lower and lower prices."

Operating independently allows the Millers to retain control, and they believe the fact that they exclusively use Jersey cows – the farm has 120 producing milk – offers them an advantage: Jerseys have a 20 per cent smaller carbon footprint than any other dairy breed, and the milk they produce has higher contents of protein, fats, and calcium.

"The response from both the community and the market has been unbelievable," said Miller, adding that Miller's Dairy aims to sell 100 per cent of the milk they produce by the end of their second year of operations.

Creemore Dairy Day commences at 10 am with a ribbon cutting ceremony to take place on Mill Street, which will be closed to traffic.

All are invited to come out and "play, dine and dance the day away."

Mackenzie Young was the Valedictorian and she told the audience that they were all graduating today because of the wonderful and caring teachers that they have had for 10 years. She highlighted some of the events that they have enjoyed which brought some chuckles from the audience. Mackenzie also told the graduates that this really wasn't the end of their schooling but just the beginning and to take what they know to build on their future.

The youth were congratulated by the staff and by loud applause from family and friends. The evening was complete with cake and festivities followed by a dance.

Congratulations to all of the graduates and good luck for the future.

Mulmur resident honoured with Niagara Escarpment award

Mulmur residents Allen Clarke and Jacqueline Tilford have been honoured with a Niagara Escarpment Achievement Award for the outstanding stewardship of their 30th Sideroad property.

At the June 21 award presentation, Niagara Escarpment Commission Chair Don Scott acknowledged the couple for their contribution to the Niagara Escarpment Plan Area, noting the efforts they have made to maintain and enhance the Escarpment's natural landscape.

Clarke and Tilford developed a residential and landscaping design for their property that blends seamlessly into the scenic agricultural environment of the Mulmur hills. Maintaining a beautiful 75-variety Ontario heritage apple orchard, they have also planted two hundred Sugar Maples and have undertaken riparian planting along the streams that cross their 80-acre property, enhancing the streams' species habitats.

"The Niagara Escarpment Plan speaks to maintaining and enhancing the quality and character of natural

by Edith Eedy

What is more important than peace and harmony in our home and our country? The Women's Institute, now over 115 years old and still working for home and country, is such an organization. We often get asked "What is the Women's Institute?" Many have never heard of our organization and by writing this article and others we want to share with you what we stand for and what we do.

Our history goes back to 1897 when a young mother by the name of Adelaide Hunter Hoodless lost her 18-month-old infant who died from drinking milk that was not pasteurized. She had a vision that all girls and women should get equal education with specific life skills. She spoke at a Farmer's Institute Ladies meeting in Stoney Creek where she passionately shared her vision of empowering women. The "Women's Institute" was created on that cold February evening.

Our Mission and Vision Statement: "The Federated Women's Institute of Ontario is a non-profit charitable organization with affiliations around the world, working with and for women in rural and small town Ontario. Through the network of Branches, we offer educational programming and community support; advocate for social, environmental and economic change, and work towards the personal growth of all women, for home and country. We envision an Ontario where women work together for safe, healthy families, communities and pursue an enriched balanced lifestyle."

Our organization has a voice at all levels of government and has played a pivotal role in influencing many changes to the laws and practices in our country:

- Mandatory stopping for school buses with flashing lights
- Installation of railway crossing signs
- Painting of white lines on provincial highways
- Implementation of easy-to-understand labels on food products
- Enforcement of the proper use of slow moving vehicle signs
- Clear markings on poison containers

- Many other initiatives over the last 100 years!

We have strong Advocacy Committees where resolutions can be submitted and are passed on to the appropriate party or levels of government.

Are you interested in voicing your concerns and creating safe and secure communities? Then, be active! Be involved! Become a member of the Women's Institute! The local Branch in the Creemore area is the "Avening W.I." For more detailed information check our website at www.fwio.on.ca.

Avening Women's Institute News

by Gwen Taylor

On June 14 the members of Avening W.I. took a scenic drive up Fairgrounds Road to the home of Marilyn Steed where we all paused to enjoy the beautiful view.

President Edith Eedy welcomed 15 members and one guest to the meeting. Secretary Holly Hughes read a letter of resignation from Diane Spence that we accepted with regret. Dorothy Shropshire read a detailed report on the District Annual meeting that was held in Creemore in May.

The roll call was "Do you use the computer to research your own health issues?" Many members answered no but some members do use the computer to get health information but said that so much is available that it can be time consuming and confusing.

Avening W.I. is planning to have a Victorian Tea to celebrate Queen Elizabeth's Diamond Jubilee and the 200th anniversary of the War of 1812, on Saturday, August 11 from 2 to 4 pm at St. Luke's Anglican Church. There will be displays of memorabilia, vintage clothing and of course an English Tea with cucumbers sandwiches, scones, date squares and more.

We have been asked to enter a display in the Elmvalle Fair on Thanksgiving weekend.

Marilyn Steed introduced the guest speaker, Judy Smith from Sunnidale Corners W.I. Judy's topic was Stem Cell Transplants and Multiple Myeloma. Multiple Myeloma is a cancer of the plasma cells. In Multiple Myeloma the plasma cells multiply, taking over and pushing out the other cells. For treatment they harvest the patient's own plasma cells and transplant them back. Judy's husband Dennis has been fighting this terrible disease for 12 years. Judy related the difficult and extensive process to diagnose it and the lengthy treatment that Dennis has been enduring. Dennis and Judy are very thankful for our great health care system. Marilyn thanked Judy for her informative talk.

It is with regret that we hear of the death of Aileen Falls, who was a life member of Avening W.I. and we express our sympathy to her family. Also, our sympathy to Myrtle Carruthers and her family on the loss of her husband Bob.

Avening W.I. will not meet again until September 13.

Braves teams are hot

by Fred Mills

The Creemore Jr. Braves moseyed across County Road 9 on Friday night to New Lowell, where the Jr. Knights were waiting. Spencer Penyige threw four innings allowing just one run, and Ricky Darrell had three hits. In the end, Creemore sailed over New Lowell 7-3. Alex Gibson went 3 for 3 and Griffin Pearce had two doubles for the home side.

The Jr. Braves welcomed the Jr. Knights to the village on Sunday for a twilight game to complete their home-and-home series. Jesse Metheral took the start and pitched two innings, allowing one run on one hit and two strikeouts. Kurt Roy went four innings, giving up only four hits in relief. Ricky Darrell, Kurt Roy, Brandon Watson and Jesse Metheral each had two hits as the Creemore Jr. Braves blasted past the Jr. Knights 12-2.

The Sr. Braves hosted the Clearview Orioles on Tuesday night in the village. The Braves were trailing 4-1 going into the bottom of the seventh when Todd Gowan's three-run blast tied it and Matt Baldry hit a walk-off homer to lead the Braves to a 5-4 victory. Creemore has turned their play around and are enjoying a six-game winning streak.

The next game for the Sr. Braves is on July 4, against the Clearview Orioles at New Lowell Recreation Park at 6:30 pm.

The next game for the Jr. Braves is on July 4 at Gowan Memorial Park (Creemore), versus Barrie Red Sox (Jr.) at 6:30 pm.

THANK YOU

The family of Virginia Ruth Hughes would like to thank all those who showed acts of kindness at the death of their mother, grandmother, great grandmother, sister and aunt. Karen and family, Peggy and family & Helen and family

CARRUTHERS – Words are inadequate to express our deepest thanks to so many people who supported us through this difficult time, in the sad loss of our loved one. Thanks to those who paid their respects to Bob by attending the visitation, funeral and reception. The floral arrangements were beautiful. Donations to the Avening United Church and the Avening Community Centre were also appreciated by the family. The bountiful buffet prepared by the Avening United Church Women and Community friends at the A.C.C. was exceptional. Thanks a million. Thank you, Rev. Tony Rennett for your love and words of comfort. To the Fawcett Funeral Home, we send our many thanks for the compassionate care shown to us at this time. The Saint Elizabeth Health Care and their Personal Support Workers enabled Bob to be at home where he truly lived and loved the Avening Community. May God bless you all. Myrtle, Paul, Patricia, Brian, Sandra, Brody, Jordan, Griffin, Anna and William Carruthers

The organizers of the Creemore Curling Club Charity Golf Tournament benefiting the Collingwood G & M Hospital Foundation would like to thank all those who helped to make our June 16th tournament another success. We would like to send out a special thank you to the businesses and individuals who made cash donations or donated items for the silent auction and/or prize table. A total of $8,700.00 was raised and is being directed to the purchase of the new CT Scanner. We sincerely apologize to anyone who we may have missed on the following list but please know we are truly thankful. Duntroon Highlands Golf Club, Darpak, Hamilton Bros. THANK YOU

A big thanks you to our contractor, Ed Leimgardt, and his terrific team – Ashley, Neil, Steve, Orie, Russell, Gavin and Alex etc – for their fine work and keen effort to get our new bookstore location fitted out and ready for the big summer season. You’ve helped us get a good start to becoming the “the best little bookstore in Canada.” Many thanks,

Catherine & Ralph, Curiosity House

Thanks to our friends for all your support since our house fire on June 16.

Mark Taylor & family

Thanks to Chez Michel for the radishes.
