DEVELOPMENT CHARGES COULD GO DOWN

By Kristi Green

Clearview is proposing to lower its development charges.

Development charges are fees collected from developers when building permits are issued. They are based on a background study, as well as evaluations of the cost of new growth in the municipality.

These fees help pay for cost increases from the higher need for services resulting from the development.

There are multiple reasons for lowering the fees. Most notably, the Township received a $10 million grant from the federal and provincial government's Build Canada Fund in January. The grant will be used to expand the Stayner sewer system.

Council has also reduced industrial and commercial construction charges in certain areas. For instance, it decided not to require parking, recreation and library development charges for non-residential construction in all of Clearview.

As well, Clearview has revised its projected costs for expansion.

CANADA DAY COASTERS — About 100 kids rolled through the village on Tuesday during the Harold Crawford Memorial Bike Parade. The children (plus a few grown-ups) cycled, scootered and roller-bladed up to the Creemore Legion Hall for some good old-fashioned fun. More photos are on pages 6 and 7.

Hardware store could soon be close to home

By Kristi Green

Creemore could have its hardware store back up and running by August, says a company rep.

Dave Tucker, Area Manager of Home Hardware Store Limited, says that since the store went into receivership in May, he has had interest from potential owners.

"We have had several interested parties contact us," Tucker said. "It might not be until mid- to late August, but we have every intention of having the store open as a Home Hardware as soon as possible."

Trish Miles, who owns the business, confirmed that she is looking to sell.

On May 1, she and her employees were locked out of the store for back payment of $5,921.46 in rent by building owner Brian Doran.

Miles said that she had offered to pay the entire amount to Doran at the end of April, but that Doran had refused to accept it.

However, Doran told the Echo that Miles did not offer to pay the full amount.

"The landlord and I are in a dispute," Miles said. "Things have not been moving positively. The lawyers advised that Brian and I should not communicate personally."

When the receiver, Grant Thornton LLP, OKs it, Miles, Tucker and Doran will visit the store together to tie up loose ends and pick up personal belongings.

Miles and her late husband, Richard, purchased the store in 2012. They moved to Creemore from Durham, where Richard had been a Home Hardware employee for 16 years. About one year later, Richard passed away.

"It's unfortunate that we have had to be closed," said Miles. "I offer an apology to the people of Creemore."

Wilson replaces Hudak

By Kristi Green

Ontario's Progressive Conservatives have picked Simcoe-Grey MPP Jim Wilson to be the Leader of their party until they elect a new one.

On July 2, the 28-member PC caucus elected Wilson to replace Tim Hudak. In the last parliament, Wilson served as Hudak's House Leader.

Hudak stepped down as party Leader after the PC's June 12 loss to the Liberals. It was the second time Hudak had led his party to defeat in a provincial election.

Although Wilson is now Interim Leader, he will not run for the permanent position at the PC's next leadership convention.

"My job is a caretaker role," he said. "I will not be creating any major policy. I know we will have a lot of good candidates for Leader in the race and

Growth will be encouraged

Doug Abbott, who has owned Village Builders (a residential house building and renovating company) since 1980, attended a Public Meeting about the charges on June 24.

He thinks the change will help encourage growth that he said has been “stifled” since the Township raised the fees in 2009.

“It’s going to help,” Abbott said. “House selling and construction is really down right now. [The development charges] affect my business. If the fees go too high, then people don’t build.”

Currently, Clearview requires developers to pay up to nine development charges including fire protection, roads, parking and recreation, plus water and wastewater facilities, if applicable.

The last time the development charges were reviewed was in 2009.

Council is expected to make a decision about the charges at its next meeting on Monday, July 14.

Council briefs

Awarded: Sewer contract

At its June 23 meeting, Council decided unanimously to award the contract for aeration upgrades to the Creemore Sewage Treatment Plant to BLG Contractors Corp. in the amount of $210,180. After going to tender at the end of April, Clearview chose BLG from five bids ranging from $210,180 to $320,518. BLG was the lowest bidder.

Motion: Propane sales

Council has directed Township staff to investigate a zoning by-law amendment that would allow convenience stores to sell exchange propane cylinders. The request comes from a petition signed by Clearview residents that Ward 6 Councillor Deb Bronée presented. The residents would like to be able to purchase sell barbecue-type propane gas cylinders from the Hasty Market in New Lowell. Currently, the by-law does not allow convenience stores to sell these products.

Approved: Children’s Charter

Council voted to adopt the Ontario Children’s Outdoor Charter. The Charter acknowledges that regular contact with nature has health, mental, physical and social benefits for children. It also states that every child should have the right to discover nature, and explore and play in the outdoors. At no significant cost, the Township will incorporate promotional activities into existing programs for children. This means that in Clearview, every child should have the opportunity to follow a trail, explore a park, harvest something to eat, swim in a pond, paddle a canoe, play in the snow, build an outdoor fort, go fishing, observe plants and camp under the stars.

Jim Wilson

PC interim leader

my job will be to make sure they’re highlighted and the talents of the caucus are highlighted. I remain humble, and will administer things behind the scenes, and keep things together in the interim period.”

Wilson is one of the two longest-serving MPPs in the Tory caucus. Since being elected to the Ontario Legislature in September 1990, Wilson has served as Minister of Health; Minister of Energy, Science and Technology; Minister of Northern Development and Mines; and Minister of the Environment.

Wilson, who lives in Wasaga Beach, recently won this riding in June’s municipal election. His family has lived in the area for 200 years.

The Conservatives will meet on Saturday, July 5 to choose a date for their leadership contest.

OPP update

Watch for fraud

The Huronia West detachment of the OPP would like to remind people not to give out personal information to those you do not know or trust, particularly over phone or email. In recent years, Huronia West has received reports of different kinds of fraud including:

- Emergency or Grandparent fraud when a caller states they are a grandchild or person in trouble, asking for money.
- Cheque overpayment fraud when you sell something over the Internet to a buyer who overpays you by cheque and then asks for the difference. You send them the difference and their cheque bounces.
- Hit man email fraud when someone writes that they have been hired to kill you unless you pay them more money. (Note from the OPP: Unless you are in with some very bad people, just delete the email.)

THE WAY WE WERE

Jerry Jordan came by the Echo office with this photograph of the Creemore Midget D Baseball Team in 1953 or 1954. Jerry (pictured front row, third from left) figures he was about 12 years old when he played second base and left field. Back row (left to right): Bob Corbett, Bruce Grey, Doug Martin, Paul Woolner, Ron Morby and John Westbrook. Front row: John Cassidy, Don Westbrook, Jerry Jordan, Coach Ivan Ingram, John Gowan and Paul Foster. (Not pictured: Lyle Scott.) The year after this photo was taken, four players from Honeywood joined the team: Doug Martin, Gord Tupling, Mike Snell and Andy Anderson.

LETTER Slow down, drivers

My friend's cat was killed on the road in front of her house the other week. She loved that cat, as did I!

Not only are we sad, but angry as well. Angry, because that particular piece of Fairgrounds Road at County Road 9 has a posted speed of 50 km/hr. It's a short stretch that is affected by the reduced speed, just up the crest of the hill north. Why then do individuals find the need to excessively accelerate from the stop sign north (and of course, fail to brake on the descent)?

Had the individual who hit and killed the little fellow been observing the posted speed, he may well have survived. My road, Edward Street, also has a posted speed of 50km/hr, but because it also has a hill, I am constantly perturbed at the speed that vehicles approach the hill.

OK, so for some it was "just" a cat. But what about the children playing nearby, or the cyclists or walkers who may be at risk?

Please: observe the posted speeds... slow down!
Marnie Hillier, Creemore

LETTER Annex memories

I attended Creemore school for Grades 6, 7 and 8. It was a close-knit school. I was a handful then! I was punished once for inappropriate behaviour and had to roll a peanut down the hall. I was not impressed.

I enjoyed all of the sports at the school, and excelled at most of them. I had friendships that are still here to this day. Mrs. Arnold was the best! Mr. Balfour was a good and fair Principal. I've had crushes and broken hearts, but still remember and are in contact with some great girls from there.

There are quite a few past schoolmates living down here in the Kitchener/Waterloo area.

Phillip Warrington, Kitchener

LETTER Where is transparency?

I read with interest your item on the public information session in Mulmur, as reported by Julie Pollock. I, too, attended, but was left with distinctly different impressions and many questions.

First, it needs to be said that this is not just a "Mulmur" issue. The vast majority of those in the audience were not immediate neighbours to the proposed pit, but local residents of many municipalities who are aware of the potential dangers on the Airport Road. They came either because they travel the road or know someone who does. They came to this meeting to respond as our social conscience to an unconscionable proposal.

Why were we even having this meeting? Every elected official seated at the front had campaigned on a platform that included opposition to any gravel pit located on Airport Road. They were all elected. They have their mandate. Simply put, it is an unsafe haul route for heavy trucks. So why were we to be distracted by all this dancing around plans for a "safer" entry and exit to the pit area? None of that changes the nature of all the other hills and blind spots on the rest of the highway. A safer access on and off the highway does not make it a safe haul route any more than two months of rehab will make one a good mayor.

Mayor Paul Mills has been a member of the County Public Works committee for four years – the same one that is responsible for county roads, including Airport Road. When the question "Where is the County?" was asked, I was surprised that he did not speak, for I have seen him as our representative on County Council, experienced in every move that has been made. I would have liked to hear from him how he has used his position to fulfill his mandate to deny this proposal.

Bryan Zeman, representing Krehm, initially downplayed the numbers and their negative impact by saying that the license to extract 500,000 tonnes annually is only a ceiling. The reality of this type of pit, he said, is more like 150,000 tonnes. But when asked about the proposal to accept recyclables and process them on site, why did he then backstep to the 500,000 figure? Is a truck loaded with recycled aggregate not as much a hazard as one carrying virgin stone? And why did he describe an adaptive management process that does not allow public monitoring as being "transparent"?

By the end of the meeting I wondered why anyone had bothered to participate. I felt I had been used to somehow add validity to a process that lacked integrity and purpose.

Michael Monahan, Mulmur

Remembering our old home

By Linda Cockton

On June 10, I was sitting on my front porch quilting a small quilt by hand. I looked over at the house I used to live in, to see a tall man with a camera taking pictures of my old place. I continued on looking at my flowers when this man appeared in my front yard. He said, “I just wondered if I could take a picture from here. I used to live here in my childhood.” I commented, “You must be Herb Hickling,” but he said, “No, I’m his younger brother, Don.”

“Well, sure,” I said. Take your pictures. I have an album inside that I’ll bring out for you to enjoy.” Meanwhile, Don went and brought his wife Celine and car over to park and visit.

Don said he had lived in the house from 1948 to 1954 and attended the school. He loved Creemore; he said it was so small and so safe to live here. He remembered the train, the little jail, our one police officer and especially Alexander’s 5¢ and $1 store.

They lived with his Grampa Hall who was an avid gardener, and Don watched and learned all about gardening. His Grampa hooked rugs up in the big landing upstairs.

When they lived in that house, his sister was being courted by an Air Force personnel who hitchhiked to Creemore from Trenton to see her. She and her man of 50 years of marriage came to visit me 10 years ago celebrating their anniversary. I saw a wedding picture of them outside my old house on Collingwood Street. They now reside on the West Coast and have 12 children. She told me they used to sneak into the parlour so Grampa wouldn’t see them smooching.

Don and Celine were travelling from Windsor, heading home to Quebec by way of Creemore, then Midland and Algonquin Park. It was such a pleasant morning sharing memories of our old home that Don had lived in for six happy years and I for some 29 years.

BUTTER TART BOOT – Jim Henderson’s Ford Escape was stuffed full of 1,092 butter tarts last week, when Jim made the 4 am journey to Midland for the Butter Tart Festival on June 14. The 91 dozen butter tarts, which were made by members of the St. John’s United Church, sold out in less than two hours, raising $1,245 for the choir. “I think it was an amazing success,” said Jim. “There were over 20,000 people there and 50,000 butter tarts! There wasn’t a butter tart left on Main Street after 1 pm.” After all that, you might think that Jim would a break from butter tarts for a while – but he is already thinking about next year’s festival. “In 2014, we’re going to start earlier and go with 200 dozen!” he said.

O Canada!

Canada Day in Creemore kicked off with the annual Harold Crawford Memorial Bike Parade, which cruised through town led by a Clearview Fire Department tanker (it was red, too!). The procession ended at the Legion Hall where riders left their bikes, blades and scooters for a full day of fun. Amid the music and games were popcorn, snowcones and face painting. The old dunk tank made an appearance proving, once again, there are two kinds of people: dunkers and dunkees (note: there was no shortage of either). Food was abundant at the Ladies Auxiliary brunch, as well as at barbecues hosted by the Firefighters and the Legion. emilie que ushered in the evening with “O Canada,” the cake was cut and the Baker Magic Show was... well, magic. The night finished with a bang – those famous Creemore fireworks sparkling in the sky. For more images, visit www.thecreemoreecho.com. Photos by Fred Mills.

Creemore Big Heart Seniors

We had nine tables for cards and Lucky Draws were won by Lois Walker, Corinne Brownridge, Mary Bouchard, Marcia Cameron, Marg Falls and George Blakney.

Moon Shots played by Irma Flack, George Blakney, Mary Bouchard and Lillian Hiltz, and the travel prize went to Evelyn Warden.

Winners at cards were Evelyn Warden 335, Mary Bouchard 302, Marcia Cameron 295 and Karl Seifert 271, and the low prize went to Kevin Keogh.

At the end of July, Kristi Green, Editor of the Echo, will leave the paper. We wish her well in new endeavours and certainly hope the new Editor is as receptive to our column as Kristi is.

This week we wish a speedy recovery for Norma Johnston who suffered a ministroke after cards last week and has been to Newmarket for stents. Latest news is Norma came home last weekend and is doing well. Hope to see her at cards again soon.

Welcome back to Bob McNicol who has been absent for a few weeks.

There will be a bid euchre tournament on Saturday, August 16, Saturday, October 18 and Saturday, November 29 at the Collingwood Leisure Time Club at 100 Minnesota Street. There will be lucky draws and lunch at noon, and cards start at 1 pm sharp. Call 705-445-9685 to register.

In October 1998, our members dressed up for Halloween (see photos below). Four of those members are still with us: May Johnston, Marion Kelly, Norma Johnston and Marg Hope.

Remember: Sometimes it's not the song that makes you emotional, it's the people and things that come to mind when you hear it.

FOR FUN AND FRIENDSHIP – (Left to right) May Johnston, Marion Kelly and Norma Johnston, along with Marg Hope (not pictured) are four of the members of Big Heart Seniors who celebrated Halloween in 1998 (below). Evelyn Warden brought the “before” and “after” shots to the Echo. “I would like to state that 16 years later, these members are just as sharp at cards as any of us. Good for you, ladies!” she said.

HELP WANTED

Creemore Sings

Would you like to lead our choir at St. John’s United in Creemore?

We are dedicated, enthusiastic and can meet challenges head on.

We need a choir director/pianist for our 11 am Sunday service September to June. Our church has great acoustics, a two-manual electronic organ and a good quality upright piano. The choir can practice Sunday morning or Thursday evening.

On occasion we combine our 12 voices with New Lowell United Church for special services. Some remuneration is paid.

If music, singing and building a beautiful community one note at a time appeal to you, please email creemorepastoralcharge@rogers.com Attention: Clerk of Session.

THANK YOU

I wish to thank my wonderful friends at HURON TRACTOR for the retirement party, the gifts and cards, the emails and phone calls and all the good wishes. I will miss you all. A special thank you to my daughter Leslie Ann and my sisters Barbara and Ann for the best surprise birthday party ever!! Thank you to all my family and friends for the gifts and cards and especially your presence at the party, which made the day so great. Thank you to Carolyn for the gifts and visits and always being my good friend. Thank you to my wonderful neighbours on George Street for the gifts, cards and flowers. Thank you all. Emma Noonan

IN MEMORIAM

JOSLIN – Audrey Joslin March 1923 – July 5, 2010; Stanley Joslin November 1918 – July 9, 1968.

There is a bridge of memories
From here to heaven above
That keeps you very close to us;
It’s called the “Bridge of Love”
As time goes by without you
And the days turn into years,
They hold a million memories
And a thousand silent tears.
To us you were so special;
What more is there to say?
Except we wish with all our hearts
That you were here today!
Loves greatest gift... Remembrance.
Always loved, Forever missed, Forever loved by their children Joan, Stan, Marlene, Wayne, Brenda, Heather, Jack, Robert

GOLLINGER - Remember them with a smile today, they were not ones for tears. Reflect instead on memories of all the happy years:
Our daughter and sister Cathy Feb 4, 1959 – July 7, 1977
Her dad George Sept 19, 1925 – July 9, 2012
Time changes many things
But love and memory always clings.
Mom, Irene and all our family

RANSIER, Margaret passed away on July 3, 2013
There’s a sad but sweet remembrance
There’s a memory fond and true
And a token of affection, Mom
And a heartache still for you.
Sadly missed, Betty (Grant) and Bob

RANSIER, Margaret Grandma and Great Grandma
When days are dark and friends few
Grandma dear we think of you
Friends are friends if they are true
We lost our best when we lost you.
Always missed, Georemy and Jamey and Jarratt and families

It's summertime... so go fly a kite!

By Andy Barrie

Do you ever get into a situation where some stranger is struggling over a problem you know something about, and you can't decide whether to stick in your two cents' worth or just mind your own business? I get this way in stores when I see people about to buy a product I know is junk. I get this way when I see tourists heading into a trap. And I get this way when I see fathers struggling to fly a kite.

There was a time when I, too, regularly humiliated myself in the kite-flying department. The local kids would laugh themselves silly as I struggled with my string. But then one day, up marched a man who was an absolute kite fanatic. He had hundreds of them, and he had dedicated himself to teaching turkeys like me how. He taught me that breezes are right for kite-flying. Seriously windy? Not. He taught me never to run with a kite. He explained that the best thing for you to do is stand in one place, and send someone else 100 yards downwind with the kite. They hold the kite pointing up in the air, and wait for your signal. When you shout, the kite holder lets go and the kite flyer – that's you – starts pulling the string through your hands, just letting it pile onto the ground in front of you. As you do this, the kite will rise, and when it gets above the tree tops, where the wind is nice and steady, you start playing out the string again till it gets as high as you want it to. Generally, your kite will go where it's pointed when either a gust comes along or you tug on the string. If it's pointing toward trouble – the ground or a tree – start paying out string like crazy, until the kite points skyward again. Then as you tighten the string, it will rise again.

When my kite guru taught me these things, he made me pledge that I, too, would use my knowledge to fight evil – like snarled string and kite-eating trees. So now I find myself roaming around looking for frantic fathers who are running all over the place trying not to look like idiots. When I find them, running their hearts out and cursing their kites, I rescue them, just as my kite guru once rescued me. Once they've overcome their aeronautical impotence and actually have it up, my job is done.

So off with you to Cardboard Castles, and tell 'em Andy sent you...
