Brentwood resident Chris Vanderkruids and Creemore resident Barry Burton are taking on town hall after being elected mayor and deputy mayor Monday.

Clearview elects new mayor, deputy mayor

by Trina Berlo

Chris Vanderkruids and Barry Burton have been elected to lead Clearview Township council over the next four years.

Vanderkruids beat out Alicia Savage for the mayor's seat by 669 votes. Vanderkruids got 2,856 votes and Savage got 2,187.

Burton won over Larry Culham for the position of deputy mayor by 241 votes. Burton got 2,589 and Culham got 2,348.

Vanderkruids got the news while at home in Brentwood, preparing to celebrate with family, friends and supporters from all over the township.

"I am very excited," he told The Echo. "Very excited that I'm moving forward."

He said he got the good news from Burton who phoned just as Vanderkruids was seeing some results come through on Twitter.

"People decided to look for change, there was a lot of votes that came through today," said Vanderkruids.

Voter turnout was at 41.8 per cent but it seemed that many voters waited until the end of the 10-day voting period to fill out their ballots online or by phone.

"I really feel that those who have served our community certainly need to receive that gold star because no matter what, they have given their time, above and beyond to make sure that things were done or set in place and the concept is, we only should be looking forward, never looking back," said Vanderkruids.

Savage and Culham were among those gathered at the Stayner Community Centre where township staff projected election results once they were tallied.

"Nobody knew more than I did what's at stake in this election so I really hope that the new council doesn't take too much time figuring out what they need to do because there is an awful lot of work that needs to be done," said Savage. "I am grateful to the outgoing council for their vision and their hard work in getting us to where we are. I have every confidence that staff will do what they can to keep up the momentum and I really, really enjoyed serving Clearview for the last eight years as deputy mayor. I particularly enjoyed my work at the county."

She said she hopes to find a way to continue to contribute at the county level.

Barry Burton celebrated at his home in Creemore.

"It was close. I worked hard. Larry worked hard and Clearview has made a decision. When I look at who won, Clearview is ready for a change," said Burton. "I am thrilled to see that Chris Vanderkruids is going to be the mayor and I think we're ready for a change and it's time to move forward and get some action happening."

Culham congratulated Burton by telephone once the results were in.

Fright night in Creemore

by Harry Arachna

Ghosts and ghouls are descending on Creemore tonight.

Experts predict they will arrive alone and in packs around dusk, inflicting terror on all villagers.

No candy is safe from their wrath.

While trick or treating, youngsters are invited to the Station on the Green for Hallow Fest, hosted by the Creemore Business Improvement Association (BIA).

From 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., the Station on the Green will be transformed into a haunted house. There will also be an alchemy booth, tarot card reading, movie screening and touch-and-feel table where people can feel some gross things and see if they can guess what it is.

Carol Sperandeo, owner of the Old Mill House Pub, is setting up the haunted house full of creepy characters and scary clowns.

Children who come through will be judged for a costume contest and they are invited to bring their jack-o-lanterns for the pumpkin-carving contest.

There is no cost of admission and free food will be served. Hotdogs are being served by the Creemore and Area Residents Association (CARA), popcorn will be provided by Peter and Joanne Gignac and hot chocolate is being provided by Norma Panzine of Affairs Bakery.

The Creemore library is offering crafts from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and treats will be handed out at the Creemore Log Cabin.

Prizes are being donated by darcique, Pizza Perfect, Cardboard Castles, Old Mill House Pub and the Sovereign.

"Thanks to all the BIA members who contributed and helped. Every little bit helps. And a big thank you to Carol for coordinating the haunted house," said event coordinator Carol Talbot.

EDITORIAL

Changing of the guard

There is a changing of the guard at Clearview Township.

The voters have spoken. They want change, well, half of them do.

If Election Day revealed anything about Clearview voters, it's that they are quite divided in their politics.

At the end of the day two new council newcomers were installed as mayor and deputy mayor.

Brentwood resident Chris Vanderkruys is the new mayor and Barry Burton is the new deputy mayor. They will take their seats on Dec. 1, the day of the inaugural council meeting for the new term.

The race for deputy mayor was extremely close. Burton beat Larry Culham by 241 votes. Vanderkruys beat Alicia Savage by a larger margin of 669 votes.

The numbers show that Clearview Township voters were really divided on whether or not they wanted change for the top two spots on council.

Two of the ward races were also quite close. Doug Measures and Robert Walker were returned to their seats by a narrow margin.

In the end, we have four incumbents returning to the table and four new people.

There is no doubt that the mayor and deputy mayor will have to hit the ground running.

There's lots to learn and lots to do.

It's important for voters to realize that one council term is influenced by previous terms. This council will inherit the accomplishments and the problems of the previous council and the ones before it. In municipal politics, council business doesn't often fit into a neat four-year package.

It does council members well to acknowledge the contributions of those who served before them.

In Clearview Township, a lot of work has been done to set the stage for commercial, industrial and residential growth through servicing.

There is still work to be done and it may not be easy to attract business to the industrial park in Stayner but the groundwork has been laid.

The face of county council is also changing.

The mayors and deputy mayors of municipalities in Simcoe County sit as members of county council.

With a first-time council member elected as mayor in Wasaga Beach and a first timer elected as deputy mayor in Collingwood, there will be a lot of new faces representing the Georgian Triangle.

Mulmur too has two new council members.

It may just be the perfect mix of experience and fresh ideas. Let's hope it's the recipe for success.

We congratulate everyone who was elected. As politicians they have about half of the electorate to win over and as constituents we need to get behind them and help them succeed.

We thank those who were not elected for their self-sacrifice and community engagement.

Cpl Cirillo will never be forgotten

Editor:

I would like to thank you for all your concern and messages of support during Wednesday's (Oct. 22) tragic events in Ottawa. I am relieved to report that I, along with my staff on Parliament Hill, were safe and secure as the situation unfolded. This was because of the hard work of our security forces: the RCMP, the Ottawa Police Service, the Senate Protective Service, and most of all, the House of Commons Security Service under the leadership of our courageous Sergeant-at-Arms, Kevin Vickers. As many of you now know, Mr. Vickers engaged the gunman and took him down once and for all, ending his terrifying rampage through the halls of our nation's Parliament. Thanks to Mr. Vickers and the dedicated men and women who protect our democratic institution more lives were saved on that terrible day. Our thoughts and prayers are now with the family and friends of Corporal Nathan Cirillo. Cpl Cirillo was standing guard at our National War Memorial over the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier – a sacred place in our nation's capital where our war dead are immortalized and where their sacrifices are remembered. Cpl Cirillo was performing this solemn task when he was murdered in cold blood by a terrorist coward who sought to disrupt our way of life and strike fear in the hearts of Canadians. Cpl Cirillo was a proud member of the Princess Louise's Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders of Canada based in Hamilton, Ontario. My sympathies, and those of all Canadians, are with his family, his friends, and the entire Canadian Armed Forces at this difficult time. Cpl Cirillo will never be forgotten. If you wish to lend your support to Cpl Cirillo's family, books of condolences are available at my offices in Collingwood and in Alliston. This was a cowardly and heinous attack on our country, our democratic institutions, our military, and on our nation's capital. I am sure that each and every one of you were thinking about your families, your friends, and your loved ones as the events were unfolding – especially those of you with ties to the Ottawa region and to the Canadian Armed Forces. This attack was meant to scare us, to intimidate us, and to hinder our way of life. This attack did not succeed. Canadians will never be intimidated by these senseless and repugnant acts of terrorism.

On behalf of the Prime Minister, I want to assure each and every one of you that together we will carry on and we will emerge from this as a stronger, more resilient nation than ever before.

Kellie Leitch,
Simcoe-Grey MP.

Cenotaph renewal project proceeds brick by brick

by Trina Berlo

Volunteers restoring the cenotaph in Creemore are getting ready to brick the pad around the memorial, in time for Remembrance Day.

The Cenotaph Renewal Project team has raised $2,000 toward its $3,600 goal.

There is now a push to raise the funds to pay for the interlocking brick. The installation is scheduled to begin today.

“To me, remembrance is an issue that should be important to everyone in our community. I don’t think we can do enough to draw attention to acknowledging, admiring, and respecting the sacrifice that our armed forces personnel have made, and are making, to preserve our way of life. Lest We Forget should not be just a one-day event,” said David Johnson.

Volunteers have received in-kind donations of topsoil from Triple J Tree Farm, wood for framing from Hamilton Brothers and the use of a compactor from Stayner Rental.

Johnson said Clearview Township, specifically CAO Stephen Sage, has been very responsive, contributing labour and Bob Ransier, Creemore’s handyman, and Stewie Patterson provided essential support with equipment and expertise when it was needed most. It is expected that sod will be laid in the spring.

2014 is the 100th anniversary of the start of the First World War and the 75th anniversary of the start of the Second World War.

The cenotaph displays some of the names of the Creemore and area men who died in the first and second world wars.

Anyone who would like to make a donation can do so at the TD Bank (account 5208418) or call 705-466-6317.

David Johnson and Norm Nordstrom at the Creemore cenotaph prepare for a load of topsoil and a load of bricks, the next step in the renewal project.

Carbon monoxide alarms required in some homes as of Nov. 1

As of Nov. 1, carbon monoxide alarms are required in certain homes in Ontario.

“If your home has a fuel-burning appliance or an attached garage, you must have a working carbon monoxide alarm adjacent to each sleeping area of the home,” said Clearview Fire Chief Colin Shewell. “For added protection, install a carbon monoxide alarm on every storey of the home according to manufacturer’s instructions.” Fuel-burning appliances include, but are not limited to, furnaces, hot water heaters, gas or wood fireplaces, portable fuel-burning heaters and generators, barbecues, stoves and vehicles.

Single-family homeowners and owners of residential buildings that contain no more than six suites have until April 15 to comply with the law. Owners of residential buildings with more than six suites have until Oct. 15 to comply.

The law will be enforced by Clearview Fire and Emergency Services. Failure to comply with the carbon monoxide alarm requirements could result in a fine of up to $50,000 for individuals or $100,000 for corporations.

The Ontario Fire Code was amended Oct. 15 to require the alarms after the provincial government passed Bill 77, the Hawkins Gignac Act, in December 2013. Bill 77 is named after OPP Const. Laurie Hawkins, who died along with her husband and two children from carbon monoxide poisoning in 2008.

The Ontario Fire Code also requires that condo and apartment buildings with a service room, must install the alarms. In condo or apartment buildings that have a garage, alarms must be installed adjacent to each sleeping area above, below and beside the garage.

“In Ontario, more than 80 per cent of injuries and deaths from carbon monoxide occur in the home,” said Shewell. “We want to make sure everyone is safe from carbon monoxide. Install carbon monoxide alarms, and do everything you can to prevent carbon monoxide in your home in the first place.”

Elwood takes Ward 2, Paterson returned in Ward 5

“He ran a great campaign and it’s been a real learning experience for me and I look forward to possibly running again in the future,” said Culham.

In Ward 5, Thom Paterson won with 545 votes compared to 295 for Robert McArthur.

“Thank you to all the voters for their participation in the election. To those of you who voted for me and to those who voted for Robert, I will work on your behalf to meet the commitments that we both spoke of during the campaign,” said Paterson.

“The people of Clearview have given this new council a tremendous opportunity to affect real change. I ask all the successful candidates to remember the commitments we all made to make changes in the way council works more openly with our communities, to keep spending down and taxes at an affordable level, to overhaul our services, to better manage our limited finances so we can stimulate economic development, attract local jobs and overall, to make the essential reforms to council necessary to make these commitments a reality. It’s a tall order for a new council,” said Paterson.

“The initial steps this new council takes to build a new working relationship with the Township staff will be the first indication of the new council’s potential success. I’m excited and optimistic.”

McArthur said he is pleased with the campaign and knows the ward will be well represented by Paterson.

“Now that I’ve got a feel for township politics, I am more intrigued than ever,” said McArthur.

Kevin Elwood won the Ward 2 seat with 569 votes, over Donna Baylis with 232 votes.

“I am proud to be elected in Ward 2 for Clearview Township. I worked hard during the campaign and it will be a privilege and an honour to represent the residents of Ward 2 and I thank everyone that supported me,” said Elwood. “I had a lot of people support me during the campaign so it wasn’t only my efforts.”

In Ward 1 Doug Measures was returned to the council table with 483 votes, only 46 votes ahead of Al Bell.

Robert Walker held on to his seat in Ward 3 with 398 votes, 54 votes more than John Broderick.

Deborah Bronee took Ward 7 with 378 votes, ahead of three opponents; Allan Howlett with 161 votes, Steven Cordick with 51 votes and Robyn Gignac with 16 votes.

Connie Leishman and Shawn Davidson were acclaimed.

The inaugural council meeting is scheduled for Dec. 1.

Mulmur voters elects Horner, Hawkins and Lowry

by Trina Berlo

Mulmur Township has elected Janet Horner, Earl Hawkins and Keith Lowry to council.

There were four people running for three council seats.

Horner got the most support with 945 votes.

“I am honoured and humbled by the faith that the residents of Mulmur have placed in me to represent them as councillor for the next four years. I hope that we can harness the citizen engagement in Mulmur to keep this a very special place,” said Horner.

Hawkins got 846 votes. He is the only incumbent returned to his seat.

Lowry got 811 votes.

“I appreciate the support from our community in me and in Mulmur’s future,” said Lowry.

“There is lots of work ahead learning to be a councillor, dealing with overhanging issues like Airport Road safety and increasing communication with residents. I am determined to honour my election promises. So, I will be reaching out for ideas and volunteers for major initiatives like economic development and county relations.”

Lynn Hilchey received 543 votes and was not returned to her seat.

Councillor Heather Hayes was acclaimed as deputy mayor and incumbent Mayor Paul Mills was also acclaimed.

“Personally I was humbled by my acclamation and the overwhelming support received from Mulmur ratepayers. I look forward to working with the new council for the next four years,” said Mills.

“Voter turnout was disappointing. I feel badly for the four people running for council as campaigning takes a tremendous amount of time, energy and dollars. To all who ran for office, I offer my appreciation for your desire to serve, and to the successful candidates, my sincere congratulations.”

The inaugural council meeting is Wednesday, Dec. 3.

Municipalities report no glitches with online voting

by Trina Berlo

Officials in Clearview and Mulmur are reporting smooth sailing on Election Day.

Both municipalities switched over to online and telephone voting for the first time.

The voting system allowed for a vote count to be complete almost immediately after voting ended at 8 p.m.

Voter turnout in Clearview was 41.8 per cent.

"I think it went really well. We got the results really fast," said Clearview clerk Pamela Fettes.

She said the only delay was that staff at town hall waited for official notice that everyone had exited the system.

The results were in by 8:30 p.m. and then inputted into a Power Point program to be displayed at the Stayner Arena, where some of the candidates and members of the public had gathered.

Of the 5,111 who voted in Clearview Township, 3,580 voted online and 1,531 voted by telephone.

Fettes said she received mostly positive feedback from people who had a good voting experience.

"The phrase seemed to be, 'that was slick'," said Fettes. "That's what we're hearing, 'I voted before I went to work' or 'I voted while I was watching the hockey game'. This is what we're hearing."

She said she did hear from people who wished they could have gone to a voting station but Clearview has voted by mail for the last three elections. She said people are thinking of when they go to the polls for provincial and federal elections.

Fettes said a comprehensive election report will be ready in about two weeks. It will give more insight as to demographics, where people were when they voted and what devices they used.

Voter turnout in Mulmur was at 35.8 per cent.

Of the 1,244 people who voted, 843 people voted online and 401 used the telephone.

"It was good, we were out of here before 9 p.m.," said Mulmur CAO and clerk Terry Horner. "It was midnight last time. It was great. We didn't have any glitches at all."

Chandler elected SCDSB trustee

Annie Chandler was elected school trustee for the Simcoe County District School Board representative for Clearview and Collingwood.

"I am honoured to have been selected as the school board trustee for Collingwood and Clearview," said Chandler. "My hat goes off to my opponent Donna Lawson and I look forward to consulting with her in the future. Moving forward I am sure that this new venture will be exciting and challenging and I anticipate meeting lots of new people with great ideas or concerns. Thank you to everyone who supported my campaign."

Annie Chandler

Chandler won the overall race, factoring in votes from both communities, with 6,654 votes.

Lawson received a total of 3,950 votes.

In Clearview alone, Lawson received 2,298 votes and Chandler received 1,963 votes.

Shawn Cooper was acclaimed as trustee for the Simcoe Muskoka Catholic District School Board.

Donald Blais won the position of trustee for the French Catholic school board and Guy Belcourt was elected as trustee for the French public school board by just 18 votes over Eric Lapointe.

Cybergnomes compete in Toronto Saturday

Five students with the Cybergnomes, Clearview's competitive robotics team, travelled to Zeeland, Michigan for an off-season event this past weekend.

The competition provided an opportunity for the new drive team to practice. Three of the members of the drive team are new to driving.

They are practicing to work as a team, building the robot, maintenance, troubleshooting and competing, all to get them ready for the 2015 season, which begins on Jan. 3.

The students managed to get through to the quarterfinals despite many system problems, said Gary Page, one of the team's mentors.

"Our shooter was disabled for most of the day so we were unable to shoot into the high goal. Our success was mainly due to our ability to defend against other robots. In one match our driver played such hard defence against team 1918, the team that eventually won the competition, that many members of that team rushed over to our pit right after the match to find out what kind of drive train we had. They didn't expect anyone to be able to push them around," said Page. The team eventually resolved most of the technical issues but it was too late to show off the capabilities of the robot.

The Cybergnomes were the first international team to attend the event.

They will have another chance this Saturday when they will compete at another off-season event at Victoria Park Collegiate in Toronto.

The team will compete in three regional competitions this year. They will be in Oshawa from March 12-14, North Bay from March 26-28 and Calgary from April 2-4.

They hope to make it to the world championships in St. Louis in April.

New students and mentors are always welcome to join the team. We accept students from any school within Simcoe County (and sometimes schools outside of the county).

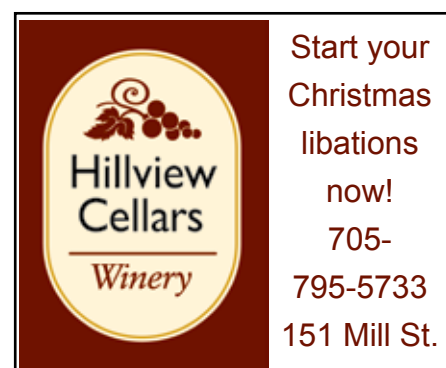

Sponsors are also needed. It costs about $75,000 to cover the costs of competing, including event registration ($21,000), travel, accommodation, and parts and supplies for building the robot.

It is best to enjoy sugary treats at the end of mealtime while there is still plenty of saliva in the mouth. Saliva helps to wash away the sugars and acids.

Couple finds new home at Curiosity House Books

by Trina Berlo

Curiosity House Books has new owners.

Rina Barone and Chris Dunk have taken over the Creemore bookstore as of today, Oct. 31.

The couple has purchased the business from Ralph Hicks, who has owned it for two years.

“We didn’t want to see it close. We thought we could continue to do what Ralph has done,” said Dunk.

“We feel like we’re stewards of the bookstore because it’s been in so many hands,” he said acknowledging the contributions of those who started the business and managed it over the years. Now the bookstore is celebrating its 20th anniversary in the spring.

There aren’t any big changes planned for the store in the immediate future.

Barone commended the talented staff who will remain working at the store, including former manager Jennifer Hubbs who will continue to plan events that have been known to attract well-known authors to the area.

Exhibitions of artwork will also continue with Martha Bull in the month of November.

Barone said the store will also continue to support local authors and be engaged in the community.

Having visited the area for most of their lives, Barone and Dunk purchased a house in Lavender more than three years ago with the intention of one day making it their primary residence.

In June they made the move from Toronto and in the summer started talking with Hicks about purchasing the bookstore.

“It’s not the impossible dream but a far fetched dream, we always thought it would be great to have a bookstore,” said Barone.

The couple has some experience in retail but they are new to the bookstore business. Barone has a journalism background and spent most of her career working in television. Dunk has worked as a contractor.

They plan to keep a steady stream of new stock at the store and Barone said books can be ordered in if they aren’t in stock. She said they are open to suggestions.

The bookstore hosts a book club the first Wednesday of each month and can order books for other book clubs.

“The support from the community has been great,” said Barone.

People are invited to come to the store Sunday to meet the new owners. An open house will take place from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Curiosity House Books is organizing two events in November.

Children’s author Jon Klassen will be at the Collingwood Public Library on Monday, Nov. 17 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. promoting his new book Sam and Dave Dig a Hole. Admission is free but reservations are required by calling the bookstore at 705-466-3400 or the library at 705-445-1571.

Authors Michael Winter and Linden MacIntyre will be at Avening Hall on Monday, Nov. 24 at 7 p.m. Tickets cost $20 ($10 for students and members of the armed forces) and are available at the bookstore and online at ticketscene.ca.

Hospital adds safety precautions during Ebola outbreak

Patients at Collingwood General and Marine Hospital emergency room are now being assessed by a screening nurse wearing enhanced personal protective equipment, including a gown, gloves, goggles, a mask and a face shield.

The change is in response to the newly implemented safety precautions outlined by the Minister of Health in response to the Ebola outbreak in West Africa.

Screening for travel history and symptoms has also been implemented at the emergency department and main doors of the hospital. There are no restrictions to visitors at this time.

"We would like assure the South Georgian Bay community that there is no cause for alarm or panic, but heightened screening will be in place until the Ebola outbreak in West Africa is under control," said Norah Holder, vice president and chief nursing executive who chairs the outbreak management committee. "The safety of our community and that of our staff, physicians, patients and volunteers is our top priority and we are going above outlined guidelines to ensure everyone feels safe while at Collingwood General and Marine Hospital."

Officials are asking people to arrive 15 minutes early for scheduled appointments to allow for the screening process.

The Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care is reiterating that the overall risk to Ontarians from this outbreak remains low.

Ebola carries a high fatality rate, said officials, but the virus itself does not spread easily from person to person. The virus is spread through direct contact with infected bodily fluids, not through casual contact.

"We would like to assure the South Georgian Bay community that at Collingwood General and Marine Hospital we have infection control systems and procedures in place that are designed to limit the spread of infections and protect health care workers and patients," said hospital chief of staff Dr. Michael Lisi.

The hospital is working in partnership with the Simcoe Muskoka District Health Unit and Ministry of Health to safeguard the public's wellbeing.

A great deal was learned after Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) and the hospital staff said it has improved and enhanced many processes and procedures to protect both patients and staff.

"I would like to comfort the community by stressing that in Ontario and all of Canada the risk remains very low, and the public should not be worried or alarmed. There has not been a confirmed case of EVD in Canada," said Lisi. "The risk of infection with Influenza is much greater and more likely than that of [Ebola]. Influenza symptoms often mimic the early signs of Ebola and we strongly encourage everyone to get their flu shot to protect themselves."

If you are experiencing flu like symptoms, please refrain from visiting patients in the hospital.

We at The Creemore Echo feel very privileged to provide weekly news and views to the community and, for more than a decade, have found many Dufferin residents to be engaged and active readers of our paper.

Over the past month changes to Canada Post delivery out of Shelburne may have caused disruption to your weekly delivery, or may mean that you are now receiving The Creemore Echo for the first time.

For the next three months we are increasing our circulation to include stops on postal routes SS007, SS008 and SS009 out of the Shelburne post office. FRED'S FUNNIES

A skeleton walks down empty Main Street. Suddenly he sees another skeleton carrying a gravestone. "Hey, what are you doing?" The other skeleton answers, "Just strolling". "Why do you have the gravestone, buddy?" "Because I always want to have some ID".

IN MEMORIAM

GALE, Sylvia – passed away on November 2, 2013.

If roses grow in Heaven
Please pick a bunch for me
Place them in my wife’s arms
And tell her they’re from me.
Tell her I love her and miss her
And when she turns to smile
Place a kiss upon her cheek
And hold her for awhile.

Love forever, Warren

GALE, Sylvia – who left us November 2, 2013.

Hard to believe it has been 1 year since you left us Mom. I still find myself walking to the phone to call you and tell you about some news. When I get the Creemore Echo, I still turn to the Big Heart Senior’s news to see what you wrote this week... and then I remember. A light has gone out in our family, but the wonderful memories will shine brightly forever.

Still missing you ever day Mom,
Love Sharon, Terry and Laurie

In loving memory of Sylvia GALE who passed away on November 2, 2013.

Dear Mom:
A million times I've needed you,
A million times I've cried.
If love could have saved you,
You never would have died.
If I could have one lifetime wish
One dream that could come true,
I'd pray to God with all my heart
For yesterday and you.

Love Louie & Ron

MORBY, Norman April 29, 1940 – October 27, 2008. In loving memory of our father and grandfather who was taken from us six years ago.

We speak your name
With love and pride
We smile with tears we cannot hide
We thank you for the years we shared
The love you gave,
The way you cared.

Forever treasured, missed and loved by

ROWE, Isabelle Grace May 9, 1924 – October 27, 2013.

It feels like forever,
And yet it feels like yesterday.
Love always, Bryce, Laurie, Beth and Nevada

In loving memory of our husband & father, Harold “Big Harold” BIGHAM who left us on November 2, 2005.

Muriel’s Canadian adventure started in 1948,when after serving as a Petty Officer in the Women’s Royal Navy Service, Muriel responded to a newspaper advertisement to emigrate to Ontario. Married in 1952, the growing family lived in Bronte, Burlington, Clarkson, Baker Lake NWT, Tweed and finally Collingwood. Theatre Collingwood presents Elly's Emotions in Collingwood Nov. 20-22

Theatre Collingwood presents Elly's Emotions from Nov. 20 to 22 at The Historic Gayety Theatre.

Elly's Emotions tells the story of a very sensitive girl with a huge imagination. When Elly was young, her imagination and crazy ideas made her one of the most popular kids at school. Now Elly is in Grade 2 and things have changed. Her former pals are drawn to the kid with the Wii and no one wants to play with her anymore. Elly's energy and enthusiasm for life, as well as her occasional emotional outbursts, have gone from making her the coolest kid to making her the weird kid. Elly tries different tactics to get her friends back, including capturing a squirrel, burying a Wii and deciding she'd better like One Direction instead of Tom Waits but in the end her stinky older brother, Henry, teaches her that being weird isn't all that bad.

This new Toronto Fringe Festival award-winning musical is written by Johnson and Johnson and produced by Daley Productions. It stars Torri Webster, from the YTV's show Life with Boys, Matt O'Connor, Naomi Kraiden and Merik Williams.

Elwood Tips Hat to Ward 2 Constituents

A somewhat shocked, and very gratified, Kevin Elwood just received official notification of his first electoral victory as Councillor for Ward 2, Township of Clearview.

Surrounded by hordes of well-wishers, Elwood very quickly headed praise and thanks to the many residents and property owners of Clearview's Ward 2, for their trust and confidence in him to address the issues facing the Township.

"The issues on the table, and the decisions made regarding them, will shape Clearview's future. I look forward to working on them with Chris Vanderkruys, Council members and Township staff."

Elwood continued to speak about the election results, and that it seemed evident that Clearview voters had decided to vote in favour of fresh thinking at the Township.

Kevin acknowledged his volunteers and their tremendous input in helping him achieve victory, and expressed his appreciation to those present at the farmhouse, and to the many that weren't there. He gave special thanks to his wife, Gail, and their staff, and to his sons and his parents, for their support and hard work.

It was quite some time before the lights at the Elwood farm dimmed, and the new Councillor made his way to bed.
